

I wanted to comment on the do not call list, I do not want this law weakened, why should I have to be bothered on my own time answering phone calls from people I have no interest in talking to. If I need something I can call a company direct. Also, I have a cell phone that I do not want these people calling and using my minutes that I have to pay for to try and sell me something. Each individual is different in their homeowner/rental status, I am not a homeowner so I can not make purchases to fix my home, why should I have to be bothered telling people no. I work 10 hours a day, the last thing I want to do is sit and answer my phone to tell these people, no. Please keep this law in full force as is now. Thank you for your time
